Harris
1892 - 60ft - Traditional Stern
Narrowbeam boat lying at Hanbury Marina

What a beauty. Historic boat originally used to carry tubular steel in her early life. Now fully restored and used as liveaboard by current owners who have enjoyed her whilst travelling the length & breadth of the UK's canals. Firstly the external paintwork is fabulous. Roof top storage boxes, solar panels complimenting a light and airy internal space. Entering from the traditional stern into an aft bedroom with double bed & plenty of storage. Then a pristine engine room with its beautiful sounding Perkins engine. Next a smart bathroom, a well equipped galley and very comfortable saloon with solid fuel stove plus central heating. The best thing is, the owners have loved & cherished Billy with a log of their 5 years living aboard. Journeys, dates, engine hours, fuel consumptions, servicing, maintenance advice all ready to pass onto the next custodians of this rare historical boat.
